BAKERS OF
THE FAMOUS
LOBACO BREAD,
CAKES, PIES

Louis, Ky., Nov. 15th, 1916.

TO OUR PATRONS:--

It has been five months since flour has been within reach of either the baker or consumer, yet we have made no changes in the price of LOBACO BREAD. It now becomes necessary to make some changes.

We do not want to bake a Ten Cent loaf from the fact that we would have to buy over twelve hundred dollars worth of new pans. A ten cent loaf is nothing more than two five cent loaves baked in a narrow pan. There is positively no economy either to the baker or consumer in a ten cent loaf.

We do not want to raise the price to you on our present loaf. Our loaf is now small and to raise the price one cent on the loaf would give us too much profit, the merchants not enough profit and you would have to pay over your proportionate rate for the bread.

OUR PLAN IS THIS.

By raising the weight of our bread we gain the following; we do not have to buy any additional pans, we do not have to buy any additional shape wrappers and wrappers have advanced three hundred per cent. We save the labor on all additional weight, as we can do this with positively the same costs so far as wrappers, baskets, pans and labor is concerned.

We propose instead of baking an eleven ounce loaf, to bake a fourteen ounce finished loaf, which will sell at retail at eight cents or two for fifteen. Ninety per cent of the people buy two loaves at once. The larger the loaf the longer it will keep and the better the flavor, for it is not all baked out.

Figure it out this way: If you should pay six cents for eleven ounces of bread (present weight) for a loaf that would weigh twenty eight ounces you would have to pay sixteen cents. Our plan will make bread cost you fifteen cents. In other words, by buying a larger loaf you save six and a half per cent, or what we save is not having to buy additional pans, wrappers and labor. This plan will give you bread at about the same cost as at present, and the extra costs are shouldered equally by the merchant, baker and consumer.

Remember that prices will not be changed until after December 15th and three days before we change we will raise the weight of the bread so that you can see for yourself the economy in buying larger loaves and not smaller loaves.

Very truly,
THE LOBACO COMPANY.

LETCHER COUNTY AND WHITESBURG

What is Happening in this Rich Coal Territory of Kentucky.

The coal fields around Hazard, Perry-co., have just made a record run of 165 cars a day, the largest number ever loaded in the Perry-co. field. A number of the operators in that section are preparing for increases and extensions and it is said that the output will be nearly doubled by the end of the year. In all sections of Eastern Kentucky there is increased activity due to the improvement in the car shortage situation which has seriously handicapped operators for several weeks.

The little 4-year-old daughter of Geo. W. Jenkins, County Superintendent of Schools, died near this city of spinal trouble after a few days' illness. The father was called from Ft. Bliss, Tex., where he is Captain of the Whitesburg company of the National Guard, arriving a few hours before the child died.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride when G. Bennett Adams, of Mayking, was married to Miss Ella Combs, daughter of Circuit Court Clerk S. P. Combs. The groom is a graduate of the law department of the University of Louisville, and is well known there. They will reside in Whitesburg.

A friendly suit will be instituted, it is understood, in order to test the validity of the bond issue for $180,000 for a municipally-owned waterworks system, which was carried at the election November 7. The matter will be taken up at a meeting of the City Council tomorrow night.

While out hunting in the mountains of Wise-co., Va., east of here, Alex Stidham, a farmer, accidentally shot himself with a twelve-gauge shotgun. Stidham was crossing a fence when the weapon was discharged, the whole charge taking effect in his left leg.

At least a thousand men have been given employment in the development at Wheelright and Jack's creek, north of here on Beaver creek, within the past few days, according to information reaching here from the scene of activities.

Two hundred men have arrived in the Elkhorn and Boone's Fork sections of the coal fields since Friday, where they will be employed in the mines.

Mrs. Anna Mullins, 40, died after a brief illness at her home near Shelby Gap. She leaves a husband and several small children.
